

Authorship Criteria Form

- All the authors have to consider carefully the list and order of authors before submitting their article and should submit the final list of authors along with the time of submission of the article
- Any change in author names in the list should be made only before the article has been accepted and only if approved by the journal editor.
- The corresponding author has to write a request to the editor for such a change. He should mention the (a) the reason for the change in author list and (b) written authorization from all authors that they agree with the addition, removal or rearrangement of the list.
- The editor will consider the changes in the arrangement only in some cases after the article has been accepted. Publication of the article will be suspended for the time period when the editor is considering the request.

Authorship Responsibility, Criteria, and Contributions

Each author should meet all criteria below and should mention contributions:

- He/she has to verify that the document represents original and valid work and neither this article nor any similar material has been published under his/her authorship.
- For papers with more than 1 author, the primary investigator/author will be corresponding with the editor. If there is only one author, he/she will be the correspondent.

Authorship of any article can be claimed if they fulfil the following criteria:

- Major contributions in the concept and design of the study,
- Participation in acquisition, analysis, or interpretation of the data,
- Involvement in drafting of the article or major revision of the intellectual content,
- He/she should agree to be accountable for all aspects of the work related to the precision or reliability of the article.
